Bowles Rd. could be do-it-yourself project

Because of the deplorable, "plowed field" like condition of Bowles Rd., which cuts into Rte. 59, just past Rte. 173, the residents of that road have asked for help in fixing and maintaining the road from the village of Antioch.

The residents who attended the last village board meeting were told by Village Atty. Ken Clark, that though the road had been annexed to the village along with the Peterson property, the property owners who rejected voluntary annexation a year ago, would have to do a turnabout and request it if they wanted village help in fixing the road.

But even then, the village board would not definitely commit itself to paying for the road's improvements.

So the property owners on Bowles Rd. were given the choice of forced or voluntary annexation, both carrying no guarantees, but with the possibility of special assessments paying the freight being mentioned.

Otherwise, they were told that they could pool their money and pay to have the road fixed themselves.

Faces 15 years

Jury: Letkey guilty in Old Attic burglary

Robert Dennis Letkey, 28, Antioch, faced a jury that returned with a verdict of guilty of burglary of The Old Attic, on Lake St. in Antioch, in the Lake County courtroom of Judge Harry P. Strouse, Jr.

Letkey was tried on burglary and criminal damage charges after being caught by the Antioch Police Dept. inside the closed gift shop on Dec. 10.

The break-in was the fourth time the shop was illegally entered in short period of time.

When he was found hiding in the closed store, Letkey told police that he had fallen in through a window because he was intoxicated.

According to Assistant States' Atty. Tom Briscoe, who successfully prosecuted the case, Letkey was found innocent of the misdemeanor damage charge.

The guilty verdict was partially attributed to the testimony by the prosecution, at the trial on March 7, that Letkey has previously served time in prison on burglary and other felony charges.

With his bond revoked, Letkey was taken in handcuffs directly from the courtroom to the Lake County Jail to await sentencing set for Tuesday, April 5, also in front of Judge Strouse.

The maximum sentence he could receive is 15 years in prison and three years is the minimum.

Briscoe said that Letkey's previous record made probation an improbability.

Oftedahl skis She's not snow blind

"I had no shoes and complained, until I met a man who had no feet."

This saying was in the minds of Ev and Elaine Oftedahl during an entire weekend with the blind. Laura Oftedahl, formerly of Antioch, now living in Alexandria, Va., participated in the week-long "Ski for Light" program which is sponsored by Healthsports Inc., a non-profit organization which offers recreational activities for blind and visually handicapped individuals.

In the "Ski for Light" program, hundreds of blind and visually impaired persons learn to ski each year.

Laura took up cross country skiing four years ago (she also downhill skis). This year Ev and Elaine Oftedahl made the trip to Mt. Telemark in Cable, Wis. to witness the final ski race held on Saturday, March 5.

There were 138 skiers, as well as 138 sighted guides. Japan, France, Norway, Canada and 29 states were represented.

For the ski race there are two sets of tacks about six feet apart, one set for the blind person, one for the guide. The guide calls out whether to turn, right, left, to go up a hill or down or whether an ice patch or tree branch is coming up.

It was an icy, mist-shrouded five kilometer course on Saturday. To witness the determination of the blind skiers, as well as the patient dedication of the sighted guides was an emotional experience.

Both the Oftedahl's reported that upon Laura crossing the finish line in 28 minutes, they had a lump in their throat as well as tears.

Laura, at the banquet Saturday night, was cheered as she accepted the trophy as first American woman to cross the finish line, besides winning first in her class of women under 35.

The first women to cross the line was a Norwegian who finished two ahead of Laura.

Ten from this group were to travel on to Black Jack Mt. in upper Mich., to compete in the U.S. Blind Ski Meet. However, snow conditions had the entire competition called off.

Laura believes she has a chance to win the cross country race enabling her to represent the U.S. in Innsbruck, Austria's Disabled Olympics in 1984.

Laura's guide for the "Ski for Light" was a South Dakota forest ranger who along with all the other guides, donates one week to train and race with a blind person.

Laura, is the director of Public Affairs for the American Council of the Blind in Washington, D.C. She lives with her Lion's leader dog "Casey".

As the Oftedahl's said, it certainly was a rewarding weekend, and they repeated the first line of this article.

OFTEDAHL FINISHES FIRST — Laura Oftedahl, blind former Antioch resident, was first American woman to cross finish line on cross country skis in race at Mt. Telemark, Cable, Wis.

Cub Scouts hosting dinner

WHAT AN EYE DOCTOR LOOKS FOR

If you've never had an eye examination and your eyes are bothering you for any reason, you're in for a surprise. An eye examination is a lot more thorough than finding out how well you can read an eye chart.

An eye doctor spends years of study and training so he can recognize problems and treat them effectively. Sure, he'll want to know how well you can see the letters on an eye chart. He'll test both eyes together and then test each eye separately. Maybe your problem is only in one eye.

He'll want to know how well you see at a distance as well as close up. He'll want to know how good your peripheral or side vision is, how well you see objects around you. He'll want to know how good your color vision is.

Your eye doctor will be using very precise instruments to check your eyes to see if there are any signs of disease that could impair your vision or cause blindness.

All of this information will be considered when he writes a prescription for eyeglasses or contact lenses. He's the best friend your eyes will ever have.

The Time Machine

When I think about it Money, food for thought

by GLORIA DAVIS

One of my favorite mines of information, Homer Lundberg of the Professional Remodelers Assn., has just supplied me with some new factual food for thought.

For instance, if anyone is looking for confirmation that pets are man's best friend, just scan the shelves of the supermarket. You'll find that the biggest item group on display is pet foods, with soft drinks coming in a close second.

And surprisingly, Americans, the world's biggest junk food freaks, are actually picky eaters. According to the United States Dairy Assn., (USDA) 70 percent don't touch cream and 50 percent don't eat ice cream.

Of course the USDA doesn't say whether this includes the long line of people that frequent the myriad of "soft serve" stands since that's really not ice cream.

Figures also show that only 50 percent drink tea, eat fish or love soup and 33 percent won't touch poultry or lunch meat.

And to the ire of the Jays and Orville Redenbacher, cookies are the most popular U. S. snack food with cake, ice cream, and potatoe chips following in that order.

I really don't want to go into the food habits of the average American much more since my usual weekly stab at dieting has me already chewing on my elbow, besides those three-figure grocery tabs are bringing me nearer and nearer to Chapter 11.

It seems I can't afford to eat and I really can't afford one of those costly new reducing programs.

I've been thinking of moving to Alaska which has the highest average yearly income, $13,763, but with my usual luck, the moving truck will be hijacked and I'll end up in Mississippi where the average is just a little over $7,000.

Then again maybe all this interest in food may get me a grant like the $58,000 one given to the National Science Foundation by the federal government for research on "How the Hummingbird Competes For Food."

Or maybe I'll get into the saving of aluminum cans. Last year one of every aluminum can distributed was reclaimed and recycled, bringing $10 million to the recyclers.

Then there is the counterfeiting of fake charge cards which has become a big moneymaker. Last year $40 million in merchandise was stolen this way.

But I guess I'll drop half of this money generating problem in my husband's lap since a survey shows that 55 percent of Americans feel that husbands and wives should share equally in providing for themselves and their families.

WOMEN DONATE TO HISTORICAL SOCIETY — On behalf of Antioch Women's Club, Florence Pedersen, center, presents check for lifetime membership in Lakes Region Historical Society to Ted Sokulski, treasurer. William and Janet Brook, on left, were present, as was Mel Knirsch, Antioch Library Board, second right.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

What a heart warming site it was to see all the friends of Dr. Jim Kopriva gathered at St. Peters on Saturday to help convince him that he is indeed a very important person in our community.

Loved the musical memorabilia, especially the bi-centennial bit.

Shirley Gutowski tells me that, as usual, the Antioch Fireman's Ladies Night, held at the Country House, was a real blast. Guess everyone gladly danced all night to the great music of the K-Ace Band.

What a scrumptious birthday cake that was that was served at last week's village board meeting! Board members and guests were more than willing to risk all those calories to help honor Antioch's Fire Dept. and its members on the department's 70th birthday.

Anyone who has always dreamed of traveling to distant mysterious lands will surely envy Airman Tad Barnes who has just arrived for duty as a security specialist with the 39th

Security Police Flight at Incirlik, Turkey. He is the son of Joan Millhouse and Bruce Barnes.

It looks like former Antioch High School student, Keith LaChance, is really into mental health etc.

My spies tell me that he recently gave a science presentation at a seminar at Monmouth College on schizophrenia.

Farewell to Antioch Police Office Harold Mason who is retiring after 20 years on the Antioch Police Force.

Not always popular with those he arrested, Mason was known as a cop who took his job seriously.

Much welcome to the new "cop on the beat," Jim Blackwood.

Ginger Fairchild is resting after major surgery in Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan. Her husband Russ tells us that cards from her pals, sent to room 404A, would be appreciated.

FIFTY YEARS AGO: March 16, 1933

For the first time in history the Democrats placed a full slate of candidates to challenge the strong incumbent Republican Antioch Township office holders.

The Democrats also came out strong as far as the Village of Antioch election was concerned, making it 19 candidates vying for office there.

A. J. Felter celebrated his 85th birthday.

United Airlines was sponsoring a movie shown at the Channel Lake School that dealt with its air mail service.

One of the most severe snow storms in recent years hit Antioch, cutting off all the electric power in the area.

A new fruit and grocery market called the Antioch Fruit and Grocery Market opened on Main St., featuring oranges, two dozen for 35 cents, lettuce at 11 cents a head and coffee at 19 cents a pound.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: March 12, 1953

The H & T Co., a year old factory in Antioch, manufacturing plastic car assessories, had grown by leaps and bounds until it now employed 40 women.

Boak Baird, William Deering, Mary Fields, Robert Herquist, Jeanne Hughes and Bruce Stammer were Antioch High School seniors that made the National Honor Society.

Patty Welcherak was way ahead in the Channel Lake Community Club's Favorite Child Contest.

The Antioch High School seniors were planning their senior play, "Going Places."

The Warwick Manufacturing Co., a new television plant in Zion, was hiring 450 employees.

Mrs. Sheridan Burnette, Jr. was elected senior vice-president of the Antioch VFW Auxiliary. Mrs. Virgil Burnette, was the new junior vice-president and Mrs. Richard Burnette was elected chaplain.

TEN YEARS AGO: March 14, 1973

Albert Dittman, superintendent of Antioch High School for 20 years, was named Antioch's VIP of 1973.

Eleven Antioch High School buses were vandalized with a tire iron or a long screw driver causing them not to run on Monday. School attendance that day was down 35 percent.

Sgt. Harold Mason was attacked by a man with a hammer in front of the Antioch Police Station. Other police officers subdued the man.

The parking problem in downtown Antioch was the biggest issue discussed at the unprecedented meeting of the members of the retail business community.

With Mark Andrews and Tim Mieuire spearheading the high school basketball team, Antioch finished the season ranking second in the conference.

DOG SHOW

The Junior Dog Judging Contest will be held again this year during the International Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show, Saturday and Sunday, April 2 and 3, at the Rosemont Horizon, Rosemont, Illinois (across the highway from O'Hare Airport). The contest will be held on Sunday, April 3, and is open to boys and girls nine-19 years of age. Copies of the rules and regulations and entry blanks may be obtained upon request, from the International Kennel Club office: International Kennel Club of Chicago, International Amphitheatre, 4220 S. Halsted St., Chicago, Ill. 60609. All entries should reach the Kennel Club office in Chicago by March 25.

PUTTING OFF DENTAL CARE

QUESTION:

I keep putting off going to the dentist. Is this being as foolish as they say?

ANSWER:

You are heading for a dental tragedy appallingly prevalent in this country. Of 110 million adults surveyed by the U.S. Public Health Service, one of every four had no natural teeth left in one or both jaws.

Neglect works insidiously. First comes tooth decay, abscesses and periodontal (gum) infections requiring complicated treatment. The pain of the infections usually sends the person for help.

If treatment is put off, teeth are surely lost and replacements needed. With more neglect, teeth drift and shift, throwing the mouth out of line, causing the loss of more teeth adjacent to those already lost. Ultimately, the entire mouth breaks down — a domino effect that makes it necessary to remove all teeth.
